

The Philadelphia Weekend Visit

Friday - Sunday, April 13-15, 2012

Do you have a passion for service and a love for the gospel? Are you interested in meeting others who are exploring their call? Are you wondering if The Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia is the place for you to study? Then plan to attend our Philadelphia Visit where you'll have the chance to explore God's call on your life, meet current students, staff and faculty, explore the wide range of possibilities LTSP has to offer and experience community life in Philadelphia. Housing and meals are provided, assistance with transportation is available by request. Register online at www.Ltsp.edu/called.
