

The Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia invites you to:

The William Allen Plaza & Historical Marker & Dedication

Saturday, September 26, 2009

12:30 pm

on the campus of

The Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia

Meet "William Allen" along with colonial dancers, musicians, and local dignitaries as LTSP celebrates the dedication of the William Allen Historical Marker and the new William Allen Plaza. The plaza was created by the seminary to connect the LTSP campus to the Mt. Airy community and provide a gathering place open and inviting to all.

For those interested in learning more about William Allen, an hour lecture, William Allen: The Squire of Mount Airy, will be held following the dedication. (For a description of this lecture, go to: www.Ltsp.edu/williamallenday)

Presenter: Frank Whelan was a feature writer at the Allentown Morning Call and has written numerous books and articles on local, state, and national history. Currently he is writing a biography of William Allen's son, James Allen.

CELEBRATING THE ALLEN LEGACY: Faithfulness and Good Will

" ... I went to Chief Judge Allen, Esquire, said farewell to him, thanked him for his faithfulness and good will ... "
